JANE RUBY WAS RIGHT: Hundreds of embalmers are now speaking up about strange, fibrous blood clots in corpses

In the middle of 2021, embalmers started to pull fibrous, white blood clots from corpses. Some of the embalmers preserved a few of these clots and spoke about their findings on independent films and independent media channels.

This phenomenon coincided with the rollout of the experimental covid-19 vaccines. These injections were already causing heart inflammation, blood clots and vaccine-induced thrombotic thrombocytopenia, but nothing like this had ever been seen before. Ever since the news broke out about the strange blood clots, an Air Force Major named Thomas Haviland has been investigating. He surveyed embalmers around the world to learn more about this abhorrent reality.

Over 2/3 of embalmers are now finding strange fibrous blood clots in corpses

The survey reached 269 embalmers spanning four major countries and three continents. The survey asked about the type of blood clots being observed, the percentage of bodies with fibrous masses and the ages of the deceased.

According to the survey, a majority of the embalmers (70%) were finding strange fibrous white clots that they had never seen before. These strange clots were not seen prior to the covid vaccine rollout, not during or before the covid-19 pandemic.

Mr. Haviland sent the survey results to the CDC, the FDA and the NIH on January 9th, but has yet to receive a response. The medical community has largely ignored this issue, because of their culpability in mass medical error and wrongful death.

Initially, Haviland reached out to thousands of individual embalmers, but participation with the survey was scant. When Mr. Haviland contacted the state funeral director associations, participation exploded. "It tells me that embalmers actually want to tell you what they're seeing in the embalming room, if they feel like they have permission" from their immediate supervisor or the state funeral director association, Haviland said.

Major Haviland stands against unlawful vaccine mandates in the Air Force before exposing how government harmed service members

Prior to launching the survey, Haviland had worked 16 years as an electrical engineer for a defense contractor at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio. Haviland helped develop the F-16 fighter jet, the F-22 Raptor and the F-117 stealth fighter. He served 20 years in the U.S. Air Force. However, his decades of service were dishonored in 2021 by the Biden regime's unlawful covid-19 vaccine mandates. These mandates led to widespread abuse and discrimination, dividing work forces and harming families, careers and livelihoods. Many were coerced to take the poisons and accept injuries, with no medical benefit whatsoever.

Mr. Haviland was forced to give up his defense contracting job because he did not go along with vaccine mandates.

In October 2021, Haviland stood against the vaccine mandate. He cited a September 2021 technical briefing from Public Health England that documented hundreds of thousands of "breakthrough" covid-19 cases being recorded among the "fully vaccinated." Accordingly, the case fatality rate for the unvaccinated at that time was more than 3.6 times lower than that of the fully vaccinated.

He sent the Air Force general an email saying, "Shame on you for not standing up for our right to decide for ourselves whether or not to get injected with an experimental drug." He copied the email and sent it out to the base's 30,000 personnel. He was fired thirty minutes later.

With his career behind him, Mr. Haviland was motivated after he watched the documentary, "Died Suddenly." The documentary showed exactly what embalmers were finding in arteries and veins of the deceased.

"In my first 20 years of experience, I'd never seen clots like these. And we're seeing them in arteries as well as veins," said Richard Hirschman, one of the first embalmers to break the story in 2021. Because Hirschman told the truth early on, more embalmers are willing to speak up today about the atrocities they are seeing.

Because of the life-and-death severity of this issue, Mr. Haviland's survey should become a mandatory report, and all funeral directors should be asking embalmers to document these horrific blood clots when they do come up.
